SLATER MILLS CHANGE HANDS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Jewett City, July 18.—Control of the William A. Slater Mills, Inc., has passed into the hands of the Slater Tire company. The tire concern now has possession of a controlling interest in these big mills, such interest being held in favor of one of the subsidiary concerns of that company.

One of the most decisive changes in the history of this town is noted in the passing to other control of the Slater mill establishment.

At present there is no indication that there will be any change in the operation of the plant. The Slater mills have for several years been putting on the market the highest grade of cotton warp for use in the manufacture of automobile tires. Among other mills which have received this product is that at Goodyear, this state.

The belief by many that a big weave shed was to be built is not at present substantiated. These mills have been closely linked with Griswold's history since 1823. In the year 1810 the Slater City Manufacturing Co. built a small mill on this privilege and spun cotton yarn from which cloth was woven on small looms in growing in numbers each month and Father Keefe commended the men for their spirit of faith and urged them to greater efforts next month in point of numbers.

He also had a good word to say for the Holy Name Society and the good work it is doing in the parish.

400 RECEIVED SACRAMENT

AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH
Over 400 men received the sacrament at the 7:30 mass in St. Mary's church on Sunday morning from the hands of the rector, Rev. William A. Keefe, comprising as they did the Third Sunday Brigade movement of St. Mary's Holy Name Society. The mostly communicants are growing in numbers each month and Father Keefe commended the men for their spirit of faith and urged them to greater efforts next month in point of numbers.

He also had a good word to say for the Holy Name Society and the good work it is doing in the parish.

How many good people we hear of

And how few we meet here visiting his parents.

Miss Annie Fraser is visiting Miss Christie Miller.

Louis Guillette of Ocean spent Sunday with friends here in the village.

The K. of C. defeated the Army-Navy team Friday night in the first game of the second round by the score of 3 to 3. This week's games are Lafayette vs. P. W. C. Monday; Pinochle vs. Melrose Wednesday with the usual interesting hand concert, and the Army-Navy vs. Lafayette on Friday night. The reports of the different committees for the field day reported at the meeting Friday night, and from all indications it will be the biggest thing ever held in this part of the state.

ed them; and this promise was to hold good with all his followers. Especially was the name of Christ to be a safeguard in moments of temptation. Father Galvin recalled the miracle of Peter's cure of the cripple when, with St. John he was besought for alms as they neared the Beautiful Gate of the temple; although the disciple avowed that silver and gold he had none, still he gave healing through his confident invocation of the name of his Divine Master.

This is the Name which should be to men a source of grace through life, of consolation in the hour of death and which will insure happiness through eternity.

JUDGE HEWITT IS UPHELD IN MYSTIC CASE

The mandamus proceeding sought by Attorney Arthur T. Keefe of New London against Judge Albert F. Hewitt to compel Judge Hewitt to file a bill of exceptions in connection with the trial of the summary process action of Max Bendett of Mystic against Manuel Sylvia of the same place in the Groton town court was dismissed by Charles B. Waller in the court of common pleas in New London Saturday morning.

The proceeding was dismissed after the introduction of testimony by Judge Hewitt Attorney Thomas E. Troland of New London, and Bendett, the plaintiff, in the original action.

Judge Hewitt gave the testimony regarding his charge to the jury in the summary process action which Attorney Keefe alleged was faulty and also concerning the admissibility of some of the testimony introduced at the trial.

Attorney Troland, who acted as clerk of the court testified to taking notes of exceptions and objections during the trial and Bendett was questioned about what took place at the trial concerning the nature of the testimony.

Attorney Keefe instituted the mandamus proceedings against Judge Hewitt after the trial of the summary process on the ground that Judge Hewitt refused to sign a bill of exceptions. He made application to Judge Waller and the hearing was set for a week ago when it was continued.

Following the testimony Judge Waller denied the action on the ground that Judge Hewitt had complied with the order and that he considered that the bill of exceptions which had been presented to the plaintiffs' attorney was sufficient.

Attorney Warren R. Burrows represented Judge Hewitt in the action.

Influenza Left Pliny Street Lady Invalid

Mrs. A. Givens of 44 Pliny Street, Hartford. Tells a Story That Will Surprise a Skeptic of How CINOT Built Her Up and Made Her Well.

The many people who suffered with the "flu" last winter and the winter before and who have not regained their health will be interested in this story of Mrs. Givens, who says—
"Last winter I suffered a severe attack of the 'flu' which left me a partial invalid. I was weak and nervous and suffered pain throughout my body. I could not raise my left arm and my left knee was painful and partially stiff. I decided to give CINOT a trial and am glad I did as the very first bottle relieved me wonderfully and after the second I began to mend fast and I have now taken four bottles and cannot recognize any of my former symptoms, and I heartily endorse CINOT for returning that priceless boon, my health."

The summer house was made of cedar posts and railing with a heavy board roof. The car had taken out all the upholstery and all that remained intact was the roof.
